We are authorized to state to the public that hereafter the school books will be purchased by the board of education and furnished to the pupils as needed at wholesale prices. The board has taken pains to obtain the lowest possible figures for the most approved standard books, thus giving the pupils the benefit of the difference between the wholesale and retail prices, as well as a uniform system of standard books.

The pupil will be required to deposit the price of the book with the principal of the schools, and when books are returned or exchanged, the amount of damage or wear is retained, and the difference refunded to the pupil, either in cash or applied on price of another book.
Thus, while the first cost of the book is taken out of the general fund, the amount is ultimately refunded.

The plan of furnishing the books to the pupils free of charge was not thought advisable to adopt as it would have a tendency to invite more carelessness on the part of the pupils than if required to deposit price of book, and pay only for the actual wear or other damage the books may have sustained. The old books now in use will be continued so until the pupil advances to a higher grade, when a new book will be required.

Parents need not keep the children out of school on account of the expense of providing books as the cost will be so low that almost every one can afford to purchase the books required.
In case of parents not being able to make the required deposit, the principal will furnish books without such deposit.

A CYCLONE OF DEATH.

Sauk Rapids Nearly Wiped
from the Face of the Earth by the Most Terrible
Wind Storm Ever
Known in the Northwest.

St. Cloud and the Adjacent Country also Visited. Brainerd Sends Relief.

Wednesday will be a day long to be remembered in this section as it marks the date of one of the most terrible calamities that ever befell the inhabitants of Minnesota, and everything that came in the way of a cyclone carrying death and destruction with it. The storm first appeared to the west of St. Cloud, and as it nearly the city the roaring and crackling could be heard, which, with the shape of the cloud, indicated that it was a cyclone of no mean proportions. It struck the Manitoba freight yards piling huge freight cars on top of each other, demolishing the depot, and everything that came within its reach, going in a northeasterly direction until it reached the Mississippi, and then followed the river until abreast of Sauk Rapids, when it took a northerly course tearing down the fine wagon bridge and grist mill and passing through the entire length and breadth of the business portion of that prosperous and thriving village, and completely leveling every business house in the city with exception. At St.
Cloud 19 were killed and 30 wounded, at Sauk Rapids 37 were killed and 60 wounded, while at Rice's station 14 were killed and from 20 to 30 wounded. As soon as the news of the disaster was learned a special was made up at Brainerd, including the wrecking car, and all the physicians of the city, and at once proceeded to the scene to render such aid as was in their power to the maimed and wounded. Sauk Rapids was reached about 10 o'clock, and the spectacle that was presented was indeed appalling. A DISPATCH scribe visited the smitten district on the early train Thursday morning and at Rice's station in the town house near the depot lay the bodies of eleven victims of the storm's terrible fury. They were the remains of what the day before had been a merry wedding party; the ceremony had just been performed and the minister was in the act of pronouncing the benediction on the newly wedded couple when the cyclone swept over the place killing the minister and wife, the groom and eight others, and seriously wounding fifteen or eighteen, the bride having both limbs and her collar bone broken, and has since died. This scene was indeed a sad and awful one. Sauk Rapids was reached at 9 o'clock, and at this point the storm did its worst work, the entire row of business houses on each side of the principal street being completely demolished and the contents scattered to the four winds, the place presented an entirely indescribable appearance. It was indeed a heart-rending scene, bodies of the dead and dying lying in nearly every house, mothers and fathers waiting for lost ones of their families, and kneeling among the ruins for some trace of missing ones. The bodies of the wounded with broken legs or arms could be heard on every hand. In an empty grain house lay the lifeless bodies of fifteen or twenty in a row, and a ghastly sight it was indeed; in another house close by was a woman with a fractured skull and a broken limb, and medical aid was doing all its power to relieve her sufferings, while in the next room was her two children, scarcely more than babes, who were bruised and bleeding.
Pen fails to tell the awful story, and only an eye witness can comprehend the awfulness of the situation; sorrow, mourning and confusion reigned.

SUPPLEMENT.

Royal Railroad.

Rev. E. J. Brownson at the Baptist Church delivered the seventh sermon in the course of the Royal Railroad on "The conductor."

The text was taken from John 14.6 "I am the way, the truth, and the life."

There is no class of railroad men with whom we are better acquainted with than conductors. Of necessity we meet every time we ride on the cars. He always comes around to see us, and never slights any one. The conductors have a position of great responsibility and trust. Much is placed in his keeping. Not unfrequently the mothers put in care of the conductor her girl or boy to get-off at a station 100 miles away. The infirm, the helpless the blind, the aged, and the mother with her children, are entrusted to the care of the conductor. When the train stops at the station these are carefully looked after.

With hardly an exception I have found conductors pleasant painstaking, courteous, obliging men. they listen with attention to the numerous questions asked them, and are always ready to give any information in their power.

Like the engineers and firemen they have an organization of mutual help. It is known as the "Order of Railroad Conductors." It has a membership of about 9,000. It publishes a most excellent monthly journal.

It has an insurance department. This numbers some 3,000 persons. It pays a pension of $2,000 to $2,500. This organization has been organized 18 years, and in this time the insurance department has paid to members of the order who were disabled for life, and families of deceased conductors over one million dollars. What a large amount of good has thus been accomplished at a comparatively small outlay in each one.

Conductors in connection with all other railroad men are placed in circumstances of peculiar temptations that are demoralizing. As a class they are peculiarly and strongly attracted to each other. Their work creates a common bond of sympathy and fellowship. Whenever they meet off duty there is this common bond that makes them one in fellowship.

This opens strong temptations. One of these is profanity. This is all together to common among all men, especially railroad men.

What good does it do? What infinite harm has it done!

Another temptation is the use of liquor. Said an old time conductor of twenty years ago. "After pay-day it was not an unusual thing hardly to find a crew to take out a train." It is different to-day yet the use of liquor is altogether too common. No man on whom the life and prosperity of others is dependant has a right to use liquor at all. It is to be lamented that there is so much in railroad life to lead to intemperance ways of idleness, exhaustion, cold, and possibly more than all, the lack of suitable place to spend leisure hours.

Our young men seek association. If it is not found in the boarding house, and other adequate means are not provided it will be found in the saloon. I am glad the W. C. T. U. reading room is doing something in this direction.

To meet these demoralizing agencies the railroad man needs the gospel of Christ. We dig dykes and build embankments against floods. We want an embankment against these elements which will ruin man. This is Christ found in man.

The railroad man is taught to obey orders and look for signal dangers. Christ has given his commands "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." Will you obey? The signal of danger was lighted up, Christ on the Cross. Will you heed the signal of danger and reverse the engine and take Christ as your only way of safety.

Cakes Without Butter.

In a little book just published by the Judson Printing Co., New York, a large number of practical though novel, receipts are given for making cakes of various kinds from the informal griddle cakes to the stately bride-cake without eggs by the use of Royal Baking Powder. Experienced housekeepers inform us that the custom has already obtained large precedence over old-fashioned method in economical kitchens; and that the product is frequently superior to that where eggs are used, and less butter is also required for the shortening purposes. The advantage is not alone in the saving effected, but in the avoidance of the trouble attendant upon securing fresh eggs, and the annoyance of an occasional cake spoiled by the accidentally introduction of an egg that has reached a little too nearly the incubatory period. The Royal Baking Powder also invariably insures perfect light, sweet, and handsome cake, or when used for griddle-cakes to be eaten hot enables their production in the shortest possible space of time and makes them most tender and delicious, as well as entirely wholesome. There is no other preparation like it.

There seems to be more than a surface indication that the South-western strike has not yet reached its complete development and that Mr. Gould would be apt to find the breezes which blow across his yacht when hundreds of miles off shore more salubrious than those wafted along New York streets.

On Tuesday morning a six months old child of Osborn Crosby died and the county commissioners were applied to for aid in the burial. Upon examination it was found that the most abject poverty existed and the aid society was called on for assistance. Crosby is a printer by trade and recently arrived from Chicago with the expectation of taking up a homestead, but his child was taken sick and he secured shelter in the old house near the railroad bridge where the family have lived for three weeks without a sign of furniture and only the floor to sleep on. Had the family made known their condition they would have been cared for before. They have been provided with all the necessities of life and moved into clean comfortable quarters.

We have lately received the largest stock of fine shoes for ladies and gents ever shown in this city, comprising the very best known makes, and we intend to sell these cheaper than they can be bought in St. Paul.

DAY & MEAGHER.

J. S. Robinson was the recipient of a handsome gold watch and $45 in money on Monday night just before his departure for Montana from his friends and fellow workmen. The watch was bought and the fund raised was $45 more than enough to pay for it with and so it was all presented to him. A large number, several hundred, congregated near the post office and marched to his residence where he was called out and W. W. Hartley made a most presentation speech to which Mr. Robinson responded in a manner that most of us would were we completely taken by surprise. F. G. Sundberg also presented him with a fine pin.
Three cheers were offered for Mr. Robinson and Mr. Hartley and the crowd dispersed.

We buy all of our goods at headquarters, and in large quantities, and purpose to sell them at wholesale prices.

DAY & MEAGHER.

A. E. Veon at the banner jewelry store on front street will receive in a few days the first stock of silverware ever displayed in this city. These goods are made by a company who are under heavy bonds to put in 10 per cent more silver in the articles they manufacture than any other goods made and each article will bear the stamp of the jewellers guild which in itself is a sufficient guarantee of the superiority of the ware. The line will be complete and will embrace all the new and novel designs and parties who contemplate purchasing will save money by buying of Mr. Veon. Remember that for every dollar's worth of goods bought at his store you will receive a chance on a ladies gold watch which is now on exhibition in the show window.

Boots and shoes cheaper than ever at Day & Meagher's.

One Thousand samples of New Spring Goods from the celebrated tailoring establishment of Browning, King & Co., Broome St., New York city at Day & Meagher's. Call and leave your measure for a suit.

We are authorized to state to the pub-
steps for the most approved standard books, thus giving the pupils the benefit

cash or applied on price of another book.
is ultimately refunded. The plan of furnishing the books to the pupils free of charge was not thought advisable to adopt as it would have a ten-
in use will be continued so until the pupils advances to a higher grade, when a conformity with the new system will be required. Parents need not keep the
afford to purchase the books required.
In case of parents not being able to make
furnish books without such deposit.

by the Most Terrible
Northwest.

St. Cloud and the Adjacent Country
Relief.

that ever befel the inhabitants of Minnesota, and which came in the shape of a terrific cyclone carrying death and destruction with it. The storm first appeared to the west of St. Cloud, and as it neared the city the roaring and crack-
huge freight cars on top of each other, demolishing the depot, and everything that came within its reach, going in a
in the city with the exception of St. Cloud which was killed and 30 wounded, at Sauk Rapids 37 were killed and 60
Dispatch scribe visited the smitten dis-
and at Rice's station in the town house
place killing the minister's wife, the
this point the storm did its worst work,
side of the principal street being com-
sented an entirely indescribable appearance. It was indeed a heart-rending scene, bodies of the dead and dying being in nearly every house, mothers and fathers
and hunting among the ruins for some trace of missing ones. The means of the wounded with broken legs or arms
house skull and a broken limb and medical aid was doing all its power to relieve
babes, who were bruised and bleeding.
Pen fails to tell the awful story, and altho an eye witness can comprehend the
mourning and confusion reigned.

BRAINERD RESPONDS.

A meeting was called at the Villard on Thursday evening to devise means to aid the sufferers. Mayor Small having received a telegram from Gov. Hubbard asking the city to do what it could, the meeting was adjourned to the ladies' waiting room at the depot on account of crowding. Mayor Small was chosen chairman and G. S. Fernald secretary. The telegrams were read and the object stated to the audience and opinions were asked for as to what would be the best method to take. Dr. D. P. Bigger read a dispatch from J. T. Odell, president of the Sanitarium association, offering the use of the hospital at that place and offering to furnish transportation. The sense of the meeting was taken in regard to this matter and it was suggested that the city as a municipality donate such sum as they thought they could reasonably do, several of the aldermen being present and who expressed themselves as in favor of the scheme, and the mayor stated he would call a special meeting of the council this (Friday) evening to take action in the matter. In the meantime it was suggested that a committee of three from each ward be appointed by the city to circulate petition for private subscriptions and donations of clothing and provisions and to report at the council rooms this evening. The motion was put to the meeting and carried and the appointments were made as follows:

First ward—J. J. Howe, L. H. Dodge, and S. W. Seales.

Second ward—F. A. B. King, Justin Smith, and E. P. Graves.

Third ward—T. Watts, T. F. Willis, and Tim Reilly.

Fourth ward—R. H. Paine, D. Doran, and J. Willis.

Fifth ward—W. Hemsted, J. Hartley, and L. W. Burrell.

A financial committee consisting of John Nevers treasurer, Justin Smith, secretary, and B. J. Small, chairman, was elected to take charge of and account for all funds.

It has been learned that the wounded persons are comfortably housed and the citizens of Sauk Rapids do not desire to have them removed to the Sanitarium in this city.

The Wells Fargo Express company, by their agent E. P. Graves, very kindly offered to carry any and all provisions and clothing free.

Let the citizens respond to this call for aid in a man. No one knows at what moment Brainerd will receive a similar visitation.

Pieces of shingles, board and fragments of clothing were carried from the scene of the storm at Sauk Rapids for miles. At Brainerd a silk neck scarf was picked up near the slaughter house.
In East Brainerd, near the shops, two chickens were seen to come down out of the heavens. The air was filled with oak leaves.

Both printing offices at Sauk Rapids were entirely demolished and not as much as a hand full of quads could be found where the day before stood well-to-do offices. A Delacy Wood, proprietor of the Free Press, was quite sever-ly injured. Mr. Newman, the proprietor of the Sentinel, was away from his home with his family and consequently escaped almost certain death.

Work on the New Shops to Begin Monday.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr.
J. L. Bjorkquist, of Moorhead, this afternoon, he being the gentleman to whom was awarded the contract of building the new shops in East Brainerd. The bids were opened at St. Paul last Monday, F. A. B. King, of this city, and one or two other gentlemen having proposals in. Mr. Bjorkquist informs us that the work of excavating will be commenced on Monday morning and that a force of 50 men will be employed. The stone for the foundation he has contracted for at Watab, and he expects that by Thursday of next week to have the excavating done so that the stone work can be commenced. The building will be completed in 90 days and it is expected that the brick work will commence May 1.
The brick for the construction will be brought here from Moorhead and are of a cream color, there being no brick that can be bought in this section. Mrs.
Schwartz only having a few brick on hand at the present time, and it will take something like 900,000 to complete the job. On being questioned as to whether the work would be done by Brainerd laborers or by imported men for the occasion Mr. Bjorkquist informed us that he should hire all the men he could in this city, as he would rather do so than to bring other people here and that he would pay the going wages to those so hired. This gentleman has had considerable experience in contracting having built the entire plant for the Manitoba road at Barnesville, and did all the work for the Fargo and Southern. He also built the penitentiary at Bismarck and the state university at Grand Forks.
There need be no more speculating as to whether the shops will be rebuilt here for you are at all anxious you can see the work commenced on Monday next.

The second ward is heard from and a new Alderman is added to the list of the elect (1) although in this case it is a female, but S. F. says she is the finest feminine in the land and that her weight is

SUPPLEMENT.

Royal Railroad.

Rev. E. J. Brownson at the Baptist Church delivered the seventh sermon in the course of the Royal Railroad on "The conductor."

There is no class of railroad men with whom we are better acquainted with than conductors. Of necessity we meet every time we ride on the cars. He always comes around to see us, and never slights any one. The conductors have a position of great responsibility and trust. Much is placed in his keeping. Not unfrequently the mothers put in care of the conductor her girl or boy to get-off at a station 100 miles away. The infirm, the helpless the blind, the aged, and the mother with her children, are entrusted to the care of the conductor. When the train stops at the station these are carefully looked after.

It has an insurance department. This numbers some 3,000 persons. It pays a pension of $2,000 to $2,500. This organization has been organized 18 years, and in this time the insurance department has paid to members of the order who were disabled for life, and families of deceased conductors over one million dollars. What a large amount of good has thus been accomplished at a comparatively small outlay in each one.

Conductors in connection with all other railroad men are placed in circumstances of peculiar temptations that are demoralizing. As a class they are peculiarly and strongly attracted to each other. There work creates a common bond of sympathy and fellowship. Whenever they meet off duty there is this common bond that makes them one in fellowship.

Another temptation is the use of liquor. Said an old time conductor of twenty years ago. "After pay-day it was not an unusual thing hardly to find a crew to take out a train." It is different to-day yet the use of liquor is altogether to common. No man on whom the life and prosperity of others is dependant has a right to use liquor at all. It is to be lamented that there is so much in railroad life to lead to intemperance ways of idleness, exhaustion, cold, and possibly more than all, the lack of suitable place to spend leisure hours.

Our young men seek association. If it is not found in the boarding house, and other adequate means are not provided it will be found in the saloon. I am glad the W. C. T. U. reading room is doing something in this direction.

To meet these demoralizing agencies the railroad man needs the gospel of Christ. We dig dykes and build embankments against floods. We want an embankment against these elements which will ruin man. This is Christ found in man.

The railroad man is taught to obey orders and look for signal dangers. Christ has given his commands "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." Will you obey? The signal of danger was lighted up, Christ on the Cross. Will you heed the signal of danger and reverse the engine and take Christ as your only way of safety.

In a little book just published by the Judson Printing Co., New York, a large number of practical though novel, receipts are given for making cakes of various kinds from the informal griddle cakes to the stately bride-cake without eggs by the use of Royal Baking Powder. Experienced housekeepers inform us that the custom has already obtained large precedence over old-fashioned method

in economical kitchens; and that the product is frequently superior to that where eggs are used, and less butter is also required for the shortening purposes. The advantage is not alone in the saving effected, but in the avoidance of the trouble attendant upon securing fresh eggs, and the annoyance of an occasional cake spoiled by the accidentally introduction of an egg that has reached a little too nearly the incubatory period. The Royal Baking Powder also invariably insures perfect light, sweet, and handsome cake, or when used for griddle-cakes to be eaten hot enables their production in the shortest possible space of time and makes them most tender and delicious, as well as entirely wholesome. There is no other preparation like it.

There seems to be more than a surface indication that the South-western strike has not yet reached its complete development and that Mr. Gould would be apt to find the breezes which blow across his yacht when hundreds of miles off shore more salubrious than those wafted along New York streets.
